Every city and town has a Fair. Plymouth has a Fair, and Little Mack is the attraction. The Poor Man's Friend is now established, and once more Honest Prices reign. Old time dealers, who have been living on the Fat of the Land while Little Mack was out of business, are now kicking, puffing and blowing like a quarter horse on a race track. -Dr. W. A. Dietrich, can be seen on Why? Because LITTLE MACK has outwited them. They tried by all means unbecoming gentlemen to keep me from getting a room to do business in, but I beat them. I HAVE THE INSIDE TRACK, and intend to keep it. YOU CAN'T SELL GOODS AS CHEAP AS I CAN! YOU KNOW IT, and that's what makes you mad. THE PEOPLE KNOW IT, and that's what makes them GLAD! You cackle! Now I crow! Never kick a man when he is down! I was unfortunate in business and was closed up. You began to crow. Friends came to my assistance and helped me. I am up again. I am LITTLE MACK again. Now kick you kickers! for the people will buy their clothing. Dry Goods, Boots and Shoes of Little Mack, the Poor Man's Friend, to the second story. Mr. and Mis. N. S.
